The African American Golfers Hall of Fame Celebrates Ten Giants

The African-American golf community is at no loss for stories documenting the struggles, tragedies and ultimate triumphs of African-American golfers. However, in spite of all these challenges, little has been done to recognize the accomplishments of those who really paved the way for today's minority golfers.

Despite the fact that minority participation in golf grows exponentially each year, we still remain very much a disenfranchised group both on and off the golf course. The African American Golfers Hall of Fame seeks to remedy this by institutionalizing the recognition and celebration of our historic involvement in "the growth of the game of golf" starting many years ago. The African American Golfers Hall of Fame has established an annual family event at which the African-American golf community can network, interact and harness it's unified strength and power. They can even brag about how they "kept it on the short grass" for so many years.

The African American Golfers Hall of Fame activities for 2005 will include a trade show where African-American Golfers and Golf Business persons can interact and display golf products and services. It will host a two-day Celebrity Golf Tournament. The African American Golfers Hall of Fame will also present its inaugural inductee class during the five-day event May 26-30, 2005 at the Wyndham Bonaventure Resort, Spa & Country Club in Ft. Lauderdale, Florida.
