“Agatha Delancy to be Inducted into AAGHOF”

Bahamas Golf Federation President, Agatha M. Delancy will be inducted into the African American Golfers Hall of Fame (AAGHOF) during the “3rd Annual AGHOF Golf Tournament, Auction & Celebration” May 24-28, 2007 will be held in Palm Beach County, FL. The induction will take place at the Palm Beach Gardens Marriott, 4000 RCA Boulevard, Palm Beach Gardens during the “Black Tie Reception and Dinner” which starts at 6:00PM, May 28, 2007. Founder Malachi Knowles stated in her notification letter that “she was selected by its Board of Governors because of her many years of leadership, devotion to her roots, skill, integrity and dedication to growing the game of golf for all to enjoy forever.” Said '06 inductee Jimmy Garvin, President, Langston Legacy Golf Corporation, “Agatha is an outstanding role model.”

Legendary Golfer Gary Player is the keynote speaker for the awards dinner. At a time when most countries were shunning South Africa, Player brought African American athletes like Lee Elder (who will be inducted in this class), first African American to play in the Masters Tournament, to his country to try to make people understand that there should be equality on and off the playing field.

Inner City Youth Golfers', Inc. (ICYG), a tax-exempt charitable organization (Tax ID # 65-0978868) established the AAGHOF annual event in order to give the “African-American Legends of Golf an opportunity to be recognized for their contributions to the sport, to continue being role models to our youth, to network with their peers, to interact and share their own stories about golf “then and now.” This celebratory event has institutionalized the true recognition of our historic involvement in “the growth of the game of golf” since the 1800's. The African-American golfing community is at no loss for stories documenting its struggles, tragedies and ultimate triumphs. Little has been done however to recognize the accomplishments of those who really paved the way for today's minority golfers.

The specific purpose of the AAGHOF is to honor the legacy and achievements of African Americans in the game of golf. The specific goals are to establish a place where the rich, colorful and proud history of African Americans in golf is specifically showcased and displayed for the world to see; to work diligently to find, review, and honor those African Americans who have made a lasting and positive contribution to golf and to their communities; to provide an interactive educational learning experience for all young and senior golfers; to acquire and assemble the most comprehensive collection of African American golf memorabilia in the world and to purchase land and build a permanent museum for all to enjoy for generations to come.

Other 2007 AAGHOF Selectees are: Joseph Manual Bartholemew, New Orleans, LA; Lee Elder, San Diego, CA; Charles Owens, Tampa, FL; Renee Powell, East Canton, Ohio and John Roux, New Orleans, LA. These stately gentlemen represent more than “two hundred and seventy eight years of knowledge about golf.” They still play golf at Langston Golf Course in Washington, DC.
